Job posting – Clinician Teacher and QIPS Research Specialist, Division of General Obstetrics & Gynecology

Joint Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology – Sinai Health System, Women’s College Hospital and the University Health Network

The Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at Sinai Health System (SHS), in partnership with the University of Toronto, Faculty of Medicine, Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology is currently recruiting a full-time physician with a demonstrated excellence and subspecialty training in quality improvement and patient safety research.

The successful candidate will have subspecialty training in Quality Improvement and Patient Safety research and be involved in the clinical care of women in the division of General Obstetrics and Gynecology. The physician will participate in teaching of trainees at all levels. The candidate will provide innovative program development and participate in quality improvement and patient safety research activity. The physician will develop educational tools for medical students, teach residents in the ob/gyn and Family Practice programs. The physician will participate in the hospital call roster for general obstetrics and gynaecology.

Ideally, this candidate will also have an expressed interest and training in colposcopy, with a particular focus on vulvar disease.

The qualified applicants should be certified (or eligible for certification) by the RCPSC and must hold an MD degree, be licensed (or eligible for licensure) in the Province of Ontario. The successful candidate must be eligible for an academic appointment with the University of Toronto’s Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor. Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. The successful candidate will promote and demonstrate excellence in professional practice and conduct.

SHS has a diverse workforce and the hospital is an equal opportunity employers. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply. However, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. The Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, as well as the University of Toronto, are strongly committed to diversity within their communities and especially welcome applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, and persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply.

Qualified candidates are requested to apply with a letter of interest, three references and curriculum vitae to:

Dr. Jodi Shapiro, Head, General Obstetrics and Gynecology at: Jodi.Shapiro@sinaihealth.ca
By: June 1, 2020